THE TEMPLE OF JUSTICE, THE movement made by the senate committee on public buildings and grounds to erect a "temple of justice" is a good one. The Supreme court of the United States is one of the most august tribunals the world ever saw, and it should be housed in a building worthy of its and the country's dignity, if American architects can design such a build-

The present accomodations for the Supreme Court are hardly worthy of "s back county" court in one of the interior states. A little, "stuffy," room which is crowded if twenty lawyers enter, a narrow passageway to the bench, a dressing room and clerk's office across the corridor, a marshal's room hardly large enough to turn in, and its library in the basement are the present quarters provided for the Supreme Court.

The theory of our government is that we have three co-ordinate branches, each of equal dignity, but when we examine into the workings of the plan we find that the seventy-six senstors who represent the states, the 325 representatives who represent the people, the two constituting the legislative branch, might be unanimous in the passage of a bill, and the President who constitutes the executive, might sign that bill and make It law, so far as these two co-ordinate branches can, and that five out of the nine indees who constitute the indicial which has the unenimous consent and approbation of both the other "co-ordipate" branches.

DECORATION DAY.

DECORATION DAY at the Capitol of the Nation, will be observed with unusual more deadly in its effects than the fabled made, and this will be more notable from the fact that President Cleveland has signified his intention to review the grand army procession. This condecension on the part of his free trade majesty, has been brought about by his comng candidacy and the uppleasant knowledge to him that even a maimed and pensiopless soldier can vote.

In nearly all the cities of the United Speeches will be made, poems recited, bivouse again told, but each year the parrators will grow fewer and the attendance less. Already the ranks are thinning. A year ago John A. Logan was conspicuous by his presence, but on the 30th his absence will be equally observed. Other men perhaps not so great as he, but great enough to be missed will fail to answer at roll call. Time beats the taps and they sleep in the sumber shades of death.

The day will likewise be properly observed here and the neglected mounds where sleep the brave be beautified with flowers and their deeds told in speech and song.

The following is said to be the correct version of how Decoration day came to be established in the United States: Mrs Sarsh Nicholas Evans, who died in Des Moines, Iowa in 1884, was one of the four ladies with whom the observance branch can make null and void the law of Decoration day originated. STRANGE SYSTEM OF SIGNS.

How Convicts Communicate in Spite of Close Surveillance-An Example Incidents that must necessarily follow from Intercommunication often happen in penitentiaries, where the rules are rigid and surreillance so close that a convict is never from under the eye of a guard or taskmas ter.
